Market*TING is an Indianapolis-based marketing, and communications firm, that focuses on small businesses, not-for-profits, government agencies, and community-focused organizations. Market*TING is not just a play on words: we believe that a great marketing strategy starts with fresh ideas. Market-Ting! LLC. has evolved and is able to provide more integrated marketing services, for a variety of clients. We work with companies through out Central Indiana and the Midwest. If your company has marketing and communication challenges, or doesn't know where to start, Market*TING would love to collaborate and create solutions together. We focus on brand strategy, identity and collateral development, marketing and communication planning, website design and development, and other graphic design and digital/web marketing services.
